

CANADIAN MENTAL HEALTH ASSOCIATION presents

NOW WE ARE STRONGER 2018

A PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE ADVANCING COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH

In June 2018, the Canadian Mental Health Association, Alberta Division is hosting Now We Are Stronger - A Provincial Conference Advancing Community Mental Health. The conference is two days of information exchange and dialogue that will advance the work in our dynamic fields. It brings together the most creative and inspiring mental health thinkers and leaders in the field.

The conference - June 4 and 5, 2018 in Edmonton- will feature keynote speakers, workshops, panels, presentations, training opportunities and exhibits.

This conference is ideally suited to individuals and organizations from Alberta focusing on mental health and mental illness.

WHAT WILL SET THIS CONFERENCE APART?

Community mental health leaders, researchers, people with lived experience, service providers, and front-line workers will come together to advance thinking and practice in mental health.

This conference is offering a robust and stimulating program of keynote speakers, presentations, panel discussions and excellent networking opportunities. The program, featuring keynote speakers, will showcase indigenous mental health, rural and remote community mental health and child, youth and family mental health. Delegates will have the opportunity to choose from many carefully curated workshops.

CONFERENCE STREAMS

INDIGENOUS MENTAL HEALTH:

Sessions within this stream will:

- showcase successful or emerging programs being offered across the province that support the mental wellbeing of Alberta's indigenous population. Discussions of challenges, successes and learnings will be helpful to participants' learning experiences.
- discuss factors and issues important to the successful support of the mental health of our indigenous population – what challenges are being faced and what helps mitigate those challenges.
- weave other topics of interest into the discussion of indigenous mental health such as addiction, lived experience, caregiving, etc.

Session attendees will come away with an understanding of indigenous mental health experiences and what Alberta's community mental health service providers, advocates, family and friends can do to support improved mental health in the indigenous population.

RURAL AND REMOTE COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH:

Generally, accessing addiction and mental health services is challenging, especially in rural and remote areas. In many cases real or perceived barriers and lack of knowledge often limit access to services and supports needed by individuals and families impacted by mental illness and addiction.

Knowledge of and access to services, equity in service delivery, promotion of mental health, prevention of mental illness and general education related to mental wellness are all factors which build community capacity.

Sessions in this stream should draw on the experiences of rural and remote communities, identify systemic issues and recognize local resources. The goal is to create better pathways for rural communities to access existing mental health and addictions services and forge new community based opportunities.

CHILD, YOUTH AND FAMILY MENTAL HEALTH:

Families are impacted by mental health concerns every day in Alberta. There are specific challenges and barriers faced by children, youth and families within the current mental health system.

Session attendees should come away with an understanding of child, youth and family mental health experience, learn how to successfully engage with this demographic, and develop knowledge of new and emerging supports available to young Albertans and their families. This stream will provide practical strategies for engagement and inclusion that have worked for others in Alberta.
